

Ever since I received this scholarship, I honestly have been feeling excited and proud of myself. Of course, I'm still applying for other scholarships as we speak. I also know that by getting this scholarship I have plenty of more opportunities out here in this world. I just need to keep working hard and pushing myself more. Earning this Scholarship means a lot to me especially for college as well. I'm just hoping that as I'm applying for more every day that I wouldn't have to worry about paying any loans back lol. But, not only that, I pray every time I submit a scholarship that I would have a chance of getting it. When it comes to scholarships, you must be confident in yourself, and I learned that from a previous scholarship that I have applied for because I didn't think I would have a chance. So far, I have only received the "SPREAD YOUR WINGS" Scholarship. I hope to see more scholarships because I believe in myself. I'm ready to see how far my college life takes me. I am looking forward to see what my future looks like now.
